WINNSBORO, S. C., APRIL 11 1895.

THE BOBOLINE.

Out in the clover blowing free

Neath the blue of the peaceful summer skies, Where the bees round the flowers throng, His wake, as o'er the field he flies, Is a bubbling trail of song.

Oh, bobolinkum, by fancy led, What a happy fate to wing O'er the sea of clover billowy red, With nothing to do but sing.

THE SEEDS OF SIN.

At the time of which I write, I was manager of the old Varieties Theatre in New Orleans, a theatre long since destroyed by fire. The season was he said, sadly. Burton, have you about to open; and it promised to be ever read a roem which says: an unusually brilliant one; but just at that juncture, an unfortunate occurrence changed the aspect of affairs.

The leading man of my companytoo-was drowned in Lake Pontchart- story of my sin. min, while on a fishing excursion. I was at my wit's end to replace the thought I loved—a girl in the North. I young man-an actor of splendid abil- was a wild sort of a chap in those days, ity-and was almost ready to despair. Time was flying, and the date upon despise me for it-1 deceived her. She which the Varieties was expected to believed herself to be my wife, Burton, open would soon arrive, and something but I cruelly, basely deceived her. She

One morning, while sitting alone in my office, a young man made his apdeath of my leading man.

I was favorably impressed. My terms suited him; the result of the the haunted life which is my doom." interview was his engagement.

Miss Helen Gray-a dark-eyed, sweetvoiced girl-a great favorite. I saw I had seen! that these two in their respective roles were destined to create a sensation, and take the theatre going people by storm. So it proved; the very first night they scored a grand success. And as disapprove of the probable ending to his favorite child.

fancied I could "hear the sound of wedding bells." Toward the close of the theatrical incidents, and I had hoped great things upon his lips in a hollow groan. rom it.

It was at the last rehearsal that I take her graceful form in his arms, for it seemed as if a cloud was resting brokenly, the name "Lenore!" he fell upon the ethereal form, like a misty vail. She was a stranger to me; I had never met the lady before. A face of pallid, unearthly beauty, with great sad my knees. He was dead. He had the landsman's eye a stanch and good blue eyes, and a mass of flowing golden broken a blood vessel, and death was ship. Besides being able to carry carhair; she stood gazing upon that tender almost instantaneous. scene with a look of wild appeal, intense suffering-anguish beyond expression. And as I drew a little nearer I saw, to sort of stiletto. Surely the woman meant foul play, Ah, me! and I must prevent it. 1 reached the "Of once sown seed, who knoweth what the spot, only to come to a halt, rub my eyes in amazement. There was no one there!

Dazed and bewildered. I turned away. I said nothing to anybody, but decided to keep my own counsel, and be on the alert for mischief, for that it was intended I felt certain.

One night, not long afterward, I was alone in my office, just before the be- 700 tons, and took shares in the secgining of the evening performance, when Edgar Harding suddenly appeared, looking pale and troubled. He sank into a seat and covered his face gencies. On the second voyage Hawwith his hands, while a long silence, a kins brought 400 negroes, and had a very awkward silence, fell over the narrow escape of losing them owing room. He glanced up at last, and I to the lack of water when he was was startled by the change in his hand. near the equator; but, as he piously some face. It was ghastly white and recorded in his log: "The Almighty haggard, and his eyes looked like the God would not suffer his elect to pereyes of one who is gazing into his own | ish, and sent a breeze, which carried | are sold for coasting and up-river trade grave.

"Burton." he began, addressing me, "you have been a good, kind friend to which lasted for more than two cenme ever since my engagement here en. I have something on my eve I will make a clean st of 15 all to you!" tried to smile and make light of the prospective confession.

cried, "and I mean to give you a swell wedding! I can well afford it, for nal.

united efforts have made made my success this season.

He smiled sadly; it was the very ghost of a smile. "That day will never come!" he returned, gravely. "I love her with all my heart. She (Heaven bless her!) returns my love, yet I must not, dare not, make her my wife. Burton, I am a haunted man!"

"Bah! Nonsense!" I laughed a trifle uneasily. "Why, Edgar, what in the name of common sense is the matter with you? Surely all is well since she loves you in return. And, in fact anybody can see that!"

His face flushed, and a tender smile stole over his lips.
"I can never bind her life to mine,"

Of once sown seed, who knoweth what the crop is?"
Well, I have found out that when we sow the seeds of sin, we reap misery an uncommonly fine company it was, and death. Listen, while I tell you the

"Some five years ago I loved-01 and so-although I supposed you will had no legal claim upon me; and at last, weary of the tie, I deserted her.

"When she found out the truth, she pearance, and requested an interview. lost her reason, and in a short time He was about thirty years of age, and committed suicide, stabbing herself to one of the most perfectly handsome the heart. Poor Lenore! she is amply men it had ever been my fortune to revenged. Her spirit has haunted me meet; added to great personal beauty, from that day to this. I can see her possessed a graceful figure and pleas- now, standing before me, with her ing address. His name was Edgar pale, sad face, and great heart-broken Harding, and he had called to app'y blue eyes, and flowing golden hair, in for the position mat'e vacant by the one hand the dagger with which she took her own life. Burton, I tell you truly, it is driving me mad. I would evinced talent of a high order which I not, dare not, ask that noble girl, soon proved by an improptu rehearsal. Helen Gray, to be my wife and share

His story ended, he arose abruptly The leading lady of the company was and left me, in blank bewilderment, to think over what I had heard and what

But I was soon aroused from my rev-

The curtain was about to arise, and I had duties to perform.

But first I went around to the wings the days went by, it became evident where I expected to find Miss Gray. that Helen and Edward were destined She was all ready to go on; looking like to become more than mere professional a picture, as she always did. For associates. They seemed to literally either on or off the stage, Helen Gray exist for each other. I have never seen was the prettiest little creature imagintwo people better suited and I did not able, and I loved her as a father loves the pretty love story. Why should they | The curtain went up and the play be not marry and live happily? I had gan. In the midst of a very pathetic $19.46; trimmers, $14.59; carpenters, black crow. There was nothing about recently embarked upon the matrimon- scene I took up my position in a retired $29.19. The average wages may be the bird to show that it was not the ial sea myself, and was ready to declare corner to watch the progress of the that it was the only way to be play oute concealed from view of the In those days divorce suits were not her acting was grand. She was the dehalf so popular as they are now, and serted wife-the beautiful betrayedthe significant question, "Is marriage and she was kneeling at the feet of the a failure?" had not been publicly dis- villain who had broken her heart, her cussed. So I watched the progress of hands clasped in supplication, as she the affair, chuckling inwardly, as I begged him to have mercy upon her, and take her back to his heart again. He stood gazing coldly down upor her, his face like a handsome mask, season, we had placed upon the boards his dusky eyes full of scorn. He was a new play called "Deserted." It had about to turn away from her, to cast a pathetic plot; theold, old story of a her off, and repudiate her forever. He loving, trustful woman deserted by the war about to speak, but all at once his willain whose wife she believed herself eves fell upon some object at the farther to be. The play was full of tragic end of the stage, and the words died

I glanced in the direction in which he was staring with wide-open, terrorcame upon a pretty scene not down in dilated eyes, and my heart gave a mad the programme. Edgar Harding was bound and then stood still. For, standstanding at Miss Gray's side in a re- ing at the opposite wing from where I tired corner; as T paused for an instant was conceiled from view, I saw the I saw him lean suddenly forward and shadowy form of a woman with pallid face and flowing golden hair, and while he murmured tender love words. wild blue eyes. She was all in white, And then a strange occurrence took and one hand held a tiny dagger. place. As I turned swiftly away, not It was the apparition that I had wishing to intrude upon a real love already beheld. Edgar stared like a scene, I saw standing just behind the statue, his breath coming thick and pair-who were so engrossed in each fast, his eyes dark with horror. He other that they observed nothing-a made one unsteady step in the direcshadowy female figure. I say shadowy, tion of the specter; then faltering, heavily upon the stage. I rushed wildly to his side, and lifted the handsome dark head upon have, this tramp is made to appear to

We buried him and the public-never knew his strange story. Miss Gray the fact of their being able to carry on still lives-a sad broken-hearted woman my intense horror, that one dainty who mourns her first love with a grief white hand grasped a small dagger-a that even time cannot assuage. Yet, sad though it is, does not poor Edgar With a stifled cry I dashed forward. | Harding's fate seem like retribution?

Beginning of the Slave Trade. Sir John Hawkins was the first English slave trader. He formed a company composed of the leading men of London and fitted out three small ships, which sailed in 1562. Later, Queen Elizabeth lent Hawkins "Jesus," a large ship of her own of ond African company. She not only equipped the ship, but put 100 soldiers on board to provide for continthem safe to Dominica." This was the beginning of the slave trade, turies before it was finally suppressed.

She'd Be Dead.

"It ain't no wonder that city peo-ple don't live long," said old Mrs. Jason. "Law, me, if I had as many have my best wishes, Harding," I neighbors to look after as folks that lives in cities must have, I'd be dead in less'n a year."-Indianapolis JourTRAMPS OF THE OCEAN.

Dirty Nomads Looked Upon with Great Disfavor by Regular Liners. There is one very peculiar feature in he maritime life of every country about which very little is generally known and that is the tramp steamship, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Every year numbers of steamers, some large, some small, often ugly and dirty to look at, and commonly called tramps from their readiness to go anywhere and take a hand in trade that happens at the moment to promise a profit, arrive at and leave our shores. These ocean footpads are generally worn out hulks, discarded by the companies who own them, and belonging to no regular line and identified with no particular class of cargo, and are sent ont as a matter of speculation to pick up what freight they can from port to port, like an old and worthless horse turned out of the regular pasture to find a living by the roadside. They are the guerrillas of the sea. Some of them leave their native countries, generally England, Norway, Germany, and Spain, a few months before their annual tickets of inspection expire, and remain away sometimes for years without undergoing a new survey and inspection. On such ships the boilers may be on the point of explosion, the machinery may be in a dangerous condition, inadequate in power to propel the ship against great stress of weather; the steering gear may be warranted to jam at some critical moment; their hulls may be in the last stage of decay, and perhaps their boats are not fit to float when lowered from the davits, yet so long as the vessel holds together and after leaving one port arrives safely at another, no one grumbles except the crew, whose arrangements are oftimes such that they can not leave the vessel if they would, for care is taken to ship, if possible, only married men, and with an offer of allotment notes, leaving half-pay to their families, these seamen must invariably find sureties that they will not desert the ship during the period agreed upon in the ship's articles. There can be nothing worse in the way of cheerlessness his pension. and discomfort than life abroad such craft, and the hardships and grievances The crews are usually of a mixed character, and are made up of Scotchofficer, $43.80; second officer, $29.20; our bounty so long. It is only one ler chief engineer, $68.13; second engineer, 1 so far as we could see. $48.66; carpenter, $26.76; stoward $29.20; cooks, $23.11; boatswain, $19.46; Charley. donkey men, $20.67; able seamen, $17.03; ordinary seamen, $9.73; firemen, $18.25; mess steward, $9.73. On French "tramps" the rates per month are: Captain, $38.60 and 1 per cent. on gross freight; mate, $38.60; second seamen, $11.58; chief engineer, $77.20; second engineer, $36.80; third engineer, $28.95; firemen, $15.44; coal trimmers, $11.5S; carpenters, $15.44; stewards

$14.48; cooks, $16.41; boy, $5.79. After having been laid up at Livertination orders are given to proceed to shipment of tea to San Francisco or New York, if to the latter port, perhaps there is another trip to Rio, and thence a journey to Antwerp. Eventually the ship gets back home, more or less the worse for her journey round the globe, and then, with a coat of paint and a polish to such metal as she may than the ships of regular companies. other business gives them a still further opportunity to unfairly compete with established lines. The operating expenses of these ocean tramps are reduced to a very low level. The coal consumption is small, in many cases not over twenty-five to forty tons a day; the crew is as small as possible, and the other general ex penses are kept at a minimum.

On the sea the tramp steamer is bu little liked. Blundering along with a bad lookout, perhaps none at all, the tramp is a terror to the owners of small sailing craft-yachts, fishing and coasting schooners-and, taking no notice of their lights, often crashes into them, remorselessly sending some of the occupants to a watery grave. The officers of mail steamers, also, profess great dislike to the tramp, which may be partly assumed and partly real, for they greatly dread a collision with some badly steered, carelessly managed vessel heavily laden with coal or iron or grain. The question is, what becomes of all the ocean tramps? Some on the African coast and other out of the way places; many are broken up for old iron, but the majority of them probably end their career, so far as any record of them is concerned, by being chronicled in the daily papers as mising, which means that they have finally succumbed to some peril of the sea.

An Agile and Inquisitive Cow. A red and white cow climbed a long Aight of steps and trotted through the second story of the Weems Steamboat Company's offices, on Light street, Balfimore, the other day. The cow was one of a drove shipped from Rappahannock, Va., by A. H. Jones on the steam er Essex. It was driven off the whart into the street, and when opposite the cow struck an easy trot, and, starting only, as cooking long discolors it. from the head of the stairway, ran the Put it in jars and seal closely. - Detroit whole length of the hall. She poked Free Press. her head out of a widow, gazed over the harbor and showed a disposition to climb out on a roof which overhung the water Several men approached the cow from outside of the window and persuaded her to retrace her steps using a porcelain potato masher to along the hall to the head of the steen stairway. Here four men took hold of the intruder and forced her down the of vinegar, a teaspoonful each of allstairs to the street again .- St. Loui Globe-Democrat.

CROWS NOT TO BE TRUSTED. A Cunning Bird's Stratagem to Ge

Food at a Hunter's Camp. "A crow is the slickest bird flying when it wants to be," said Lige Thomner as he sat on the edge of a soap box at Williams' store at Long Hill Center near Bridgeport, Pa., "and to prove it I will tell a circumstance that occurred when a party of us were camping a Canaan Mountain pond last fall.

"There were an almighty lot of crow. around the hut we occupied, and one day I brought out my gun and shot into the flock. All escaped my shot except one which was lying on the ground wounded. I went to the place and picked the wounded bird up, and found that its left leg had been broken by the shot. Taking the crow to the hut I am putated the leg, and taking a hot coal from the fire burned the stump so that it would not bleed. The bird was then allowed to go at liberty, but instead of with crumbs from the table, and it became quite tame. It would come limping into camp just like a veteran after

"At about meal time the crow could be expected at first, but at last ... visof these seafarers are peculiarly great its became more frequent. One of the boys hinted that the bird we were feeding was not the victim of my gun shot. men (generally as engineers), Scandi- and investigating this theory we found navians. English, Irish, Danes, Nor- what a gay deceiver the crow is. Up wegians, Germans, Italians, Lascars, the alley leading to the spot where the and negroes. Chief engineers receive bird had been in the habit of receiving from $55 to $74 per month; firemen, its food there hopped one day a fine said to be about as follows: First same one that had been the object of

"'I'll bet that ain't our crow,' said

"'Yes, it is, too,' I says; 'it has only one leg. "You wait and see,' says Charley and away he hurried and returned with his gun. Raising it and taking careful aim he fired, and the bird stretched mate, $27.62; boatswain, $21.23; able over on the ground dead. We made an examination, and sure enough the bird had two legs as good and sound as any bird flying. When it had come into our camp it had hitched the other up under its wing so as to deceive us and secure food. It must have watched us feeding the wounded bird saw an opporpool or Glasgow for some time orders tunity of securing food by imitating will be given to prepare the tramp for | that one. All crows are so near alike sea. Off she will start on a voyage that there is no identifying one, and the will be extraordinarily zigzag. Per- only way we knew ours was by the one; haps to commence with she goes to leg. When such a clever imitator at-Cardiff for a cargo of coal to one of the tacked us we were badly fooled. I do West Indian islands. Arriving at des- not know what became of the real at night. wounded bird. It never showed up Rio, where the captain finds a cargo of lafter the other was killed. I don't know coffee for Cape Town, from whence he but that we had been feeding the borns proceeds to Shanghai or Foochoo for a bird for the real one for weeks before we found out our mistake as it was."

CORN AND COTTON.

Two Staples in Which the United States Lead the Whole World. Cotton and corn are the two grea American staples, and the two in which the United States stand easily at the all countries combined. The total cot with a brush used for the purpose and head not only of all countries, but of ton supply of the world, figured on the prepared chalk. goes and freight at much lower rates basis of bales of 400 pounds each, is Before beginning to seed raisins about 12,000,000 bales, and of this cover them with hot water and let amount the United States produces them stand fifteen minutes. The seeds about 9,000,000 bales, or two-thirds of can then be removed easily. the whole amount. The crop here at- A poultice made of Indian meal, tained the highest figures before the covered with Young Hyson tea, moiswar in 1860, when it was 4,600,009 tened with hot water and laid on a bales of 470 pounds; 1892 was the bes! burn will relieve the pain in five minyear for cotton since, the crop being utes. 9,000,000 bales of 470 pounds.

The corn of the United States for 1894 is 65,000,000 acres, and the total belladona is an excellent lotion, after product 1,200,000,000 bushels, of the the use of which dust with powdered value of about $600,000,000. The great alum. corn year was 1889, with a crop of 2,100,000,000 bushels; 1891 followed with 2,000,600,000 bushels. In 1892 ture of benzoin. If a few drops are and 1893 the figures were about the same-1,600,000,000 bushels. Compared with the value of the corn and cotton stantly stopped. crop, the other agricultural productions of the United States occupy a subordinate position, the value of the wheat crop being $225,000,000, cats $214,000,000, potatoes $91,000,000, barley $27,000,000, rye $13,000,000, and buckwheat $7,000,000. Two surprises because of the differ ence in value compared with ordinary public expectations are hay and tobacco. The hay crop of the United 000 in value; the tobacco crop, on the ple rosemary tea is also good. other hand, amounted to only $27,000. I 000. The last year preceding (1893) the tobacco crop was 50 per cent, greater, and considerably more than half will succeed in life. of it came from two States, Kentucky and Tennessee. Kentucky stands at the head of the tobacco States. Penn- mand 'twill soon be dark, sylvania is at the head of those in the North. Connecticut comes next: Nev have the most of it to spare are the last Tork is fourth.-Sun.

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.

PINEAPPLE PRESERVES. Pare the pineapple, and take out all road open entrance to the office of the eyes and discolored parts. Cut in company the cow suddenly turned from slices, cut slices in small pieces, takthe street and started up the stairway, ing out core. Weigh the fruit, and climbing twenty-four steps to the see- put in a pan with half as many pounds ond story. At the top of the steps the of sugar as fruit. Let it stand over visitor found herself in a 140-foot hall. night. In the morning put it over the Open doors were hurriedly shut and the fire and let it boil rapidly for a minute

GRAPE CATSUP. Squeeze the pulp from five pounds of grapes; boil this for five minutes or until the seeds can be strained out, press the pulp through the sieve; add two pounds of sugar, the skins, one cup spice and cinnamon, a saltspoonful each of mace and cloves and a half a tenspoonful of salt; add the spices in bags and boil until it thickens. The housewife who gave me this receipt adds a little cayenne pepper at the last. It is delicious with cold meats. -American Agriculturist.

CHEESE OMELET. Maria Parloa, in Good Housekeeping, says: For three or four people use two ounces of stale bread, free from crust, two ounces of grated or finely broken cheese, one gill of boiling water, one gill of cold milk, one level teaspoonful of salt, a grain of cayenne, one tablespoonful of butter and two eggs. Have the bread broken into small pieces and pour the boiling water over it. When soft, add the salt, pepper and milk and break up fine. Beat the yolks and white of the eggs separately and stir them into the mixture. Add the cheese. Put the butter into a frying-pan and set over a hot fire. When the butter is so hot leaving the vicinity of the camp it hung that it begins to turn brown, pour in around, and the boys would feed it the omelet and cook until it begins to get set, drawing the mixture back a little as you would a plain omelet. Now fold it and let it brown slightly. Turn out on a hot dish and serve immediately.

HOW TO PREPARE POULTRY.

In preparing poultry for cooking here are a few rules to follow: Chickens, ducks, capons and turkeys should he killed at least twenty-four hours before using. When well picked, singe by removing the stove cover and putting some paper in. Pass the bird over the flame, taking care not to blocken or burn it. Cut the neck off as near the body as possible. Cut the oint; with your forefinger loosen the crop and take it out. Cut a slip under the rump large enough to run the hand into the body. Put the hand in carefully to loosen the contents of the body and stomach in every direction so that all may be drawn out in one mass. Pour warm water through the bird and wipe out with a towel. Cut the gall from the liver, then throw the liver into cold water. Scald and skin the feet; put gizzard, heart, feet, and neck in a pint or more water, with a little onion. Let them stew slowly until reduced one-half. All poultry needs just this treatment .- New York Advertiser.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS. To remove paint stains apply turpentine at once, if possible.

For asthma soak blotting paper in strong saltpeter water; dry, and burn

Clear, black coffee diluted with water and containing a little ammonia will clean and restore black clothes. Pour diluted carbolic acid at once upon every part of a poisonous wound; afterward give internal stimulants.

If the eyes are weakened by close work, such as painting, embroidery or reading, bathe them frequently in weak alum water. To cleanse cut glass, wash it intepid water and dry thoroughly. Polish

For moist hands ninety grains of eau de cologne and fifteen grains of

One of the best remedies for tooth ache is the common compound tincplaced on cotton and put in or around the tooth the pain will be almost in-

For laundry use kerosene is very effectual in whitening clothes. A half a teacupful in a boiler of clothes will produce a most satisfactory result. Yet care must be exercised when using this explosive material.

Where the hair is thinning the fol lowing is excellent: Mix equal quantities of olive oil and spirit of rosemary with a few drops of oil of nut-States amounted last year to $158,000, meg. Rub into roots at night. Sim-

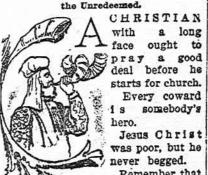

> The sooner a man becomes convinced of the things he can't do the quicker he Life is too short to waste in critic > peep or cynic bark, quarrel or repri-Good advice is scarce, and those who ones on part with it.

TRUMPET CALLS.

fam's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to Remember that Aoud is always bright. A lazy man loses heart every time he looks at the clock. Love is the only thing that more than pays for all it gets.

The best advertisement for a revival s the revival itself. Controversy in religious matters pays ao spiritual dividends. God never says "Come up higher" to eny except the faithful.

The sin that shines the brightest is the one most apt to kill. Unless we find God to-day somebody alse may lose him to-morrow. If we know how to aim, the bigger the giant the better the mark. The man who looks through cobwebs will see spiders everywhere. If the Lord could trust us with money we would all have more of it.

The man gains nothing who loses his character and saves his money. Rebellion against God turns its back on heaven, and makes its own hell. The man God helps is the man who is doing what he can to help himself. The devil may feel proud of his work when he looks at a drunkard's home.

who wants to know where Cain got his Some shepherds seem to forget that sheep never stand on their hind legs to

It is always the self-righteous man eat For every fault we see in others we have two of our own which we over-

The conviction of sinners is sure to se deep when the church is hearing God speak. The journey to the cross is short when we are willing to go to it with bleeding feet. The devil can behave himself as well.

as an angel when gain his point. One reason why Christ ate with pub dcans and sinners was that they made him welcome The blind would never find out that they were blind, if somebody with eyes didn't tell them so. The religion that is only seen on Suniay, is not the kind that is going to bring the world to Christ.

When man finds God in peace it is pecause he sought him as a sinner when he had no peace.

The man who gives as God tells him co, will do himself more good than the me who receives his gifts. When the devil walks abroad as a roaring lion, seeking whom he may de-your, he never shows his teeth. God doesn't tell the unconverted man that he is a sinner, but turns on the light and shows him that he is one.

Give some people the power to move mountains, and how quick they would spoil the country for everybody else. Moses saw the burning bush as he was passing by, but he didn't hear God speak until he turned and went to it. A revival is as much the result of bedience to certain laws and conditions, as the production of an electric

The church would have greater vieories if there were no men in her ministry except those whom God has sent.

The sermon that does not have something in it that God has said, will not provoke any opposition from the king f the pit. It is no doubt easier for God to stop the sun than it is to turn a man around who has always been in the habit of having his own way. The preacher's spiritual life is more ipt to widen and deepen when he is being persecuted for righteousness' sake, than when his salary has been doubled.

wealth and culture are not made out of any better clay than common folks, but bushels of sermons are written which studiously avoid pressing home this

Working Jones for It. "Smith is a good-natured man."

"Why do you say so?" "Jones is telling him all the cute chings his baby says and Smith is laughing heartily and seems interest

"Smith wanted to borrow $5 from me mst now and I couldn't let him have it"-New York Press.

Begun 300 Years Ago. In sixteen months the great drainage canal of the City of Mexico will be opened. The canal is over thirty miles long, and the tunnel through the mountain six miles. The total cost will have been $20,000,000, and they have been fooling with the thing off and on for 500 years.

There is no cheerfulness in the world that equals that of an amatour in responding to an encore.

It never becomes entirely dark to those who look up.

News in Brief.

-The deepest ocean is the Pacific. -The Japanese are fond of t thing. -Electrical cranes are multiplying. The Black Sea has a depth of 600

-The cost of the Mexican war was

-Berlin is said to be the healthiest city in the world.

-A new telegraph invention will the top side of a convey 2000 words a minute over the

> -The skin is rough because by that means it is better adapted to receive and unused. -Germany reports 289 instances of suicide among school children during recovered at Pompeni. The soles are stened with nails.

-Dr. Joule's studies in mechanical equivalents of heat brought forth the compound engine.

-There are said to have been five suicides in five years in Divinity Hall, Cambridge, England.

passengers the past year.

hem in boxes of arrowroot. -Mrs. Mozette, of Jackson County, Michigan, an inmate of the county

-In nearly all arid land regions artesian wells can be obtained at ! -It is proposed to build an electric railroad fifteen miles from Portland Me., slong the Elizabeth shore.

-The smallest church in the world is at St Lawrence, Isle of Wight. A congregation of forty would crowd it. -Half a teaspoonful of sugar scat-

-The French claim that gasmaking was invented by Lebon in 1802, who made gas by the dry distillation o'

-The ground has only been lightly covered with snow at Mobile, Als., five times during the last seventy-five

A monument of Dr. Charcot, the great hypnotist, is now an assured fact for Paris. The money for it has been raised club to instruct prospective missionsties in foreign languages by means of the phonograph. -There are forty five survivors of more years old. -Drawings executed in London were recently successfully transmitted by ted if they do not stop their cars before passing the engine house of the -Experts have made exhaustive than the single truck car. -Australian ranchmen make use of -An error of a thousandth part of a second in an astronomical calculation would mean an error of 200,000,000,000

avoid the use of bright colored materials, which would add to the chancer of the enemy in locating them. —In China, which has long been known as "the land of opposites," the dials of clocks are made to turn around, while the hands stand still. -Edgar F. Whitman of Nantucket, riage for his personal use, thinks that plant horse carriages. -In the sugar corn the conversion of sugar into starch is arrested at a par-The Bible declares that people of ticular point in the growth; the grain does no fill out, and is consequently > man beings. -Rev. C. M. Jones, of Onecnta, N.

Y., owns one of the first horseshoes ever made by machinery. It weighs two and a half pounds and was made at Troy in 1858. -No receptacle has ever been made power of freezing water; 20-pound shells have been rent asunder a hough made of pottery. -- The new glass wall linings introduced in Berlin are not brittle, but for residents of vitreous dwellings not to precipitate projectiles. -Miss Ellen Tickle, of Heno, Butler County Ohio, is said to be the smallest full-developed woman now living She but twenty eight pounds.

Mass., show that at the height of five miles the movemment is three times faster in summer than at the earth's urface, and six times in winter.

-The velocity of light may be taker at about 186,300 miles a second.

-The wren often makes a dozen nests, leaving all but one unfinished the last six years. -Many pairs of sandals have been

-Brooklyn (N. Y.) elevated and surface roads carried nearly 200,000,000

-When the Japanese wish to send grapes to distant friends they pack lepth of from 300 to 600 feet.

almshouse, is 106 years old.

-Substances liable to explosion are, as it were, says Professor C. A. Mitch el!, in a state of unstable equilbrium.

tored over a dying fire is better that kerosene and has no element of dan-wood.

- Chicago clergymen have formed a the war of 1812 on the roll of the pension office, of whom fifteen are 100 or telegraph to Paris by means of the Gray telautograph. . - Motormen in Baltimore are arrescity fire department. tests, and have found it took no more power to haul the double truck car the telephone to warn each other of storm signals, and in Montana they are beginning to follow suit.

miles in the distance of a star. In building nests birds invariably

Mass., who is building a steam carsteam carriages will ultimately sup-strivelled. -Bees readily distinguish color, blue heing their favorite; and ants are seusitive to the ultra violet rays of the spectrum, which are invisible to hu-

strong enough to resist the bursting they suggest irreseistibly the necessity is thirty one years old, and weight -Careful measurements of cloud velocities at the Blue Hill Observatory,